

Do people avoid talking to supervisors about mental health issues because they think it brings negative consequences?

Are you willing to discuss with supervisor(s)?

